

A composite image of a human face. The left side of the face is a realistic human face with blue skin and green eyes. The right side of the face is a topographical map of the Americas, with green landmasses and brown/orange lines representing rivers and terrain. The background is a solid blue color.

MAP YOU

create a sustainable future

What is it? A proven system for creating a sustainable future.

The Map You Course is:

- A proven 'system'
- On the job training
- Vocational Education
- Industry specific
- Place specific

What does it achieve?

- A shared vision
- Career pathways
- New business opportunities
- Sustainable stakeholder relations
- It creates support, participation and co-operation

What are the benefits – for you?

The Map You Course will benefit many industry sectors and their stakeholder communities. Some of the benefits are:

Mining – Sustainable community engagement, increased ability to meet obligations, on the job training

Communities – Self management, strengthening, business opportunities, new resources and infrastructure

Tourism – Sustainable indigenous business products, on the job training, stakeholder engagement

Local Government – Sustainable development, community engagement, increased resources and opportunities

Business – Business revival and growth, joint ventures, increased opportunities, more targeted markets

National Parks – Sustainable joint management, increase in visitors, increased revenue, business outcomes

NGOs – New opportunities for growth and development, new partnerships and community engagement

Youth and Individuals – Career pathways, on the job training, enterprise development, become trainers

Contact: Jennifer Joi Field 0428 500 548

International enquiries: +61 428 500 548

www.mapyou.org